

From: The Supreme Court and McCarthy-Era Repression: One Hundred Decisions
By: Robert M. Lichtman

© 2012 by Robert M. Lichtman. Reprinted with permission of the University of Illinois Press. This material may not be reproduced, photocopied, reposted online or distributed in any way without written permission from the publisher.

Contents

Author's Note	ix
Introduction: Political Repression and Court-Curbing	1
1. Defining the McCarthy Era	13
2. The Justices of the Vinson Court, Douglas , and the Start of the Court's McCarthy Era (October Term 1949)	24
3. Dennis , the Attorney General's List, Loyalty Programs, Contempts, and More (October Term 1950)	37
4. Deportations, Fallout from Dennis , and the Rosenberg Case (October Terms 1951 and 1952, Special Term 1953)	48
5. The Coming of the Warren Court, the Emspak Trilogy, and Brown's Consequences (October Terms 1953 and 1954)	64
6. Nelson , Cole v. Young , and the Beginning of the Campaign against the Court (October Term 1955)	78
7. The "Red Monday" Decisions, Jencks , and a Crescendo of Anti-Court Attacks (October Term 1956)	91
8. Beilan , Lerner , and the Court's Shift, Passport Cases, and Congress's Court-Curbing Climax (October Term 1957)	109
9. Barenblatt , Uphaus , and the Court in Retreat (October Terms 1958 and 1959)	127

10. Scales and CPUSA, Wilkinson and Braden, and Konigsberg II and Anastaplo—a Full-Scale Retreat (October Term 1960) 144
11. Frankfurter's Departure, a Near-Decision in Gibson, and the Era's End (October Term 1961) 161

Epilogue: Vietnam War Decisions and Some Observations 171

Notes 177

Selected Bibliography 255

Index of Supreme Court Decisions 267

Index 273

Illustrations follow page 90